Engagement Volunteer

About b.supreme

Established in 1999 b.supreme is an arts charity which encourages creativity, opportunity and development, creating both grass roots and professional opportunities for girls and women to engage in the arts. We have presented sell-out festivals, battles, events and performances and developed outreach, mentoring and artist development projects specifically celebrating women in hip hop since 2006.

Project

b.supreme's Empowerment Day programme was established in 2008 and aims to engage young women aged 14-25 in physical activity via Hip Hop Dance. We have taken our Empowerment Day programme (a whole day of hip hop dance workshops, ice breakers, games and Q&A) into secondary schools and community centres in every London Borough engaging over 13k young women to date with teams of the most celebrated female artists.

We plan to continue delivering this across London and need your help in researching the best schools for our project. We're looking for someone to work with us remotely for 5-10 hours a week for 4 weeks doing desktop research.

We are looking for someone:
